Perfect preparation...

Correct preparation for any overseas relocation is vital in order for your consignment to reach its destination in the condition it leaves your home. A tailor made move schedule will be produced by our surveyors detailing every aspect of your move including any special items or equipment required on the move day. Every item that is to be shipped will be professionally packed and wrapped using the very best export packing materials available.

Our surveyors pay great attention to detail and will have chosen the best materials to suit your move, to ensure safe transit of your possessions. They will have recommended the most cost effective way for your goods to be shipped. This may be a shared load consignment, or shipped in its own 20ft or 40ft steel shipping container.

For remote destinations or just for added peace of mind we can pack smaller consignments into specialist cases for shared loading. Sole use containers will usually be loaded outside your home, sealed and delivered to the docks ready for shipment. If you send your effects as part of shared load consignment they will be transferred to one of our consolidation warehouses, where they will be stored until being co-loaded with other shipments bound for the same destination.

Perfect preparation...every time.

It's those little extras

Simply Ship will always go that little bit further than you expect to ensure complete client satisfaction – we want you to reach your destination knowing you have received the best possible service.

Not only will we move you to any destination in the world, we will move your best friend too. We can put you in touch with some of the best pet shippers in the business. Europe or further afield, whatever your pet requirement, we can arrange.

There are still parts of the world where it is possible to import cars and we are able to offer both roll on roll off ferry and container services to these destinations. Simply Ship can also crate and export your motorbike should this be needed and help guide you with the documentation.

Simply Ship can also arrange to send in advance an airfreight consignment which might include baby equipment, clothing, work tools or books that you will need as soon as you arrive. This usually works out much cheaper than sending them as excess baggage and will save you a lot of sweat and tears carrying them!

Simply Ship will monitor your consignment during its journey, and can keep you advised of its progress.
